PROJECTS

- Brain Tumor Detection and Staging (Graduation Project): video
  Brain tumors pose a major global health challenge, where early and accurate diagnosis is critical. This project focuses on developing an automated brain tumor detection system through a website using machine learning and advanced image processing on MRI scans. By leveraging EfficientNetB3 for classification, the model accurately identifies and categorizes tumor types such as glioma, meningioma, and pituitary tumors. The system achieved 99.7% accuracy, demonstrating its potential to support faster, more consistent clinical decision-making and improve patient outcomes.
- Plants Shop: video
  HTML, CSS, Bootstrap and JavaScript website showing different plant types and categories that you can purchase by adding to cart and knowing the total price also you can add your favorite products and check them later.
- Accessories Products: video
  HTML and CSS single web page showing women's accessories products.
